

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF.

ST. PAUL, (ST. P. NEWS WIRE.)
ST. PAUL, Nov. 9.—Arrests are expected momentarily in connection with the revelation that forged checks bearing the name of Martin J. O'Malley, County Treasurer, had been found. It is said that four or five persons are being suspected, and rumors were to the effect that the discrepancy in the accounts may be much greater than the $11,000 discovered by auditors.

Gov. Burnquist was the principal speaker today at the unveiling of a bronze memorial tablet at Olivet Congregational Church in honor of the fifty-six service men who are members of the church.

Hundreds of University of Minnesota students are in the Twin Cities to attend the home-coming celebration which started Friday night and concluded late yesterday after the former graduates and students had witnessed the Minnesota-Illinois football game.

DETROIT, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
DETROIT, Nov. 9.—Canadian residents of Windsor filed a protest with Ottawa yesterday against the presentation next week of a war medal to Lieut. Harry Costello of Detroit by the Prince of Wales. The protesters declare Costello, who was a member of the 23rd Infantry, wrote scurrilous articles about British soldiers in North Russia.

KANSAS CITY, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—The Santa Fe Railroad Company asks $1,000,000 in damages for land taken by the Kansas side drainage board in providing a new harbor-line for flood protection in the west bottoms.

Snow and much colder weather is predicted to reach Kansas City today.

More than two months have elapsed since the disappearance of Ernest R. De Vigne, school gardener, and no word has been received from him.

The Kansas City Railway Company went into the Kansas side Federal Court last yesterday and asked permission to charge 7 cents fare for eastbound passengers going to the Missouri side.

"I believe I could have the Democratic nomination for Senator next year—probably without opposition— if I wanted it," Gov. Gardner said here yesterday.

MILWAUKEE, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—The first arrest for bootlegging was made yesterday when Charles Schenkus was apprehended. He is alleged to have made $200 in two days selling whiskey.

Children of Milwaukee society took part in the play "Little Red Riding Hood" at the Pabst Theater yesterday for the benefit of the Children's Hospital.

Gov. Phillips yesterday denied the statement attributed to Clinton M. Barnes, president of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association, that the Governor told teachers who appeared before the Executive Committee that they had better hurry back to their positions in the classroom.

ST. LOUIS, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9.—Mayor Kiel and a committee of Republican leaders will be in Chicago Monday to confer informally with Will H. Hays on the St. Louis outlook for the Republican National Convention next summer.

Miss Louisa Terrell of Glendale will receive $6000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by a machine driven by a chauffeur for Mark Gumbert, proprietor of Fonta Flora Cafe.

Judge Charles Faris, recently appointed to the United States District Court, and Judge David Dyer, the retiring jurist, will be guests of honor at a reception by the St. Louis Bar Association, Monday night.

ST. LOUIS, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9.—The engagement of Webster Tilton, 26, who has an income of $25,000 a year, to Miss Mary Miller Brown of Louisville, has been broken, according to a dispatch. Miss Tilton was leaving for St. Louis around the world. Tilton's youth is ostensibly the cause.

MINNEAPOLIS, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., C. W. Wickesham, son of the former Attorney-General of the United States; Royal C. Johnson, Congressman from South Dakota, were among the arrivals for the convention of the American Legion yesterday.

Lotus D. Coffman, dean of the College of Education, University of Minnesota, was elected president of the Minnesota Educational Association, over R. B. Jackson, superintendent of the Minneapolis schools.

Attacking a burglar who entered her home early today, Miss Nellie Martin, 745 East Eighteenth street, battled the intruder for fifteen minutes, in an effort to save her $850 cash and a diamond ring valued at $500. Before the burglar was slain, she was knocked unconscious. She saved her ring, but the burglar got away with the cash, which was torn to shreds in the fight.

Thousands of old Minnesota grads flocked to the city for homecoming day, at the university, but Illinois spoiled most of the fun by beating the Gophers, 10 to 6.

OMAHA, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
OMAHA, Nov. 9.—Ira Johnson, the negro on trial charged with assaulting Edward Kroupa, was on the witness stand yesterday in his own defense, and denied the charge.

The special grand jury yesterday returned five more indictments in the riot cases. The names were kept secret. Tom Denmark was a witness before the grand jury yesterday.

DES MOINES, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
DES MOINES, Nov. 9.—The end of the first week finds Iowa facing a coal famine, with the majority of the schools closed and factories closing.

A. P. Sherwood, head of the United States secret service in Iowa during the war, has resigned to the Western Meat Company.

San Francisco people who had visions of a turkey Thanksgiving are taking heart at the good news, the assertion of the concern's official having dispelled the gloom resulting from what he states was a misunderstanding of a market circular.

The lowest turkey prices on the market, according to Patterson, may be expected, owing to the lack of demand for turkeys as a result of so many people going out to work, whereas in 1918, plants were running full blast, and there was much more money in circulation. Result: this year the government purchases will be almost negligible compared with the great amount used by the army last season.

BLIZZARD IN DAKOTAS, (ST. P. NEWS WIRE.)
BISMARCK, (N. D.) Nov. 9.—The entire Missouri slope country is in the grip of a blizzard which has been sweeping the prairie since Saturday afternoon.

TURKEY WONT ROOST SO HIGH.

NORTHERN DEALER SAYS PRICE LOWER THIS YEAR BECAUSE OF STUKES.

DES MOINES, (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
DES MOINES, Nov. 9.—In spite of propaganda that has been sent out from turkey-producing centers that the price of the national bird is to mount to unheard of figures at about the time common, ordinary people will celebrate Thanksgiving Day, the price of that commodity will be lower this year than last, according to the statement of E. R. Patterson, an official of the Western Meat Company.

"a Toothless Tommy" doesn't strike us quite so funny, nowadays!

Time was when the loss of a tooth or two meant nothing in "Tommy's" young life—and even less to his parents. Truth to tell—we thought it quite the proper caper. But how different now!

For, we have learned that a careless young age augurs well for a toothless old age; and that, sooner or later, we must pay the penalty—in painfully poor teeth, poor looks, poor health!

We have learned that saving our teeth is not an event but a continual process—an everyday rite of personal hygiene. And, what's more, we have learned to pass this lesson down to our children—so they may be spared the pain and misery of decayed and defective teeth.

When we say Pyo-Rem is a real tooth saver—we mean just that! For, by the sheer cleanliness it creates, Pyo-Rem makes it impossible for the acids and germs of decay to breed in the mouth. This is the logical way—the natural way—to protect and preserve your teeth and gums.

Pyo-Rem is a soft, luxuriant Dental Cream that cleans and polishes your teeth to natural whiteness—without harmful grit or injurious chemicals. Stop in today at your druggist's—and get a generous-sized tube at 25 cents.

REDS PLOTTING RUIN OF STATE.

Documents Seized in Raids Give Full Details.

Mean Nothing Less Than Complete Overthrow.

Declare War on Government, Property, Religion.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

—in a word, we must take care that the power is not given to the earth that is a reminder of the private ownership of property; to blow up barracks, churches, shoot the most prominent military and police officers, must be the most concern of the revolting working people. In the working classes, there must be a merciless, for the slightest weaknesses upon our part may afterward cost the working classes a whole sea of needless blood.

After "capital and state" are destroyed, the manifesto says, the first duty of the union is to start production on a new foundation. Existing labor organizations should be over to them entirely. It argues. Then each "village commune" should unite with all other communes and the "one grand federation" would follow, says the manifesto.

RECOGNIZE NO RELIGION.
Recognizing no religion, no authority, no power other than his own, the manifesto says, as a corollary, its members are atheists, communists, anarchists, and so on. "We go tranquilly, cheerfully, not because it is painful to us eternally to be calling to bloody combat—not because there, far beyond the covered barricades, beyond all terms of civil war, there already shines for us the magnificent beautiful form of man without a God, without a master and free of authority."

"We hate religion because it kills the spirit with lying tales, takes away the power of man, faith in the power of justice here on the real earth, and in the church, the heaven. Religion covers everything with fog; real evil becomes visionary, and visionary good a reality. It has all the same, without relief and tears. And we declare war upon all gods and religious fables. We are atheists."

Mr. Gravan called particular attention to statements in the manifesto having a bearing on the government's activities in connection with recent strikes. The government's attempts to put down riots and attacks on the property of laborers where such attempts to end trouble had resulted in death for anyone.

Discussing war, the manifesto indicates the American people for honoring Gen. Pershing as commander-in-chief of the United States Expeditionary Forces in Europe.

"Murder is always murder and the man who kills is always a murderer," the manifesto asserts. "The only service of this man has been in fact that, being a professional killer, he came to be by simple chance at the head of the American armies which fought in Europe. There, obedient to the commands of those who sent him, he with ability and brains led the work of murder of men by men. For they raise him to the skies and honor him in every way. All this is done only because we are in the age of progress and civilization, in an age of altruism and humanitarian ideas."

THE "SOCIAL ORDER."
With the jails in fourteen cities crowded with members of the Union of Russian Workers and Federal District Attorneys throughout the country preparing under the direction of Atty.-Gen. Palmer, their cases against the 200 radical leaders arrested in the raids of Friday, yesterday and last night, Americans are getting a glimpse of the "Social Order" planned by the Reds to replace the government of the United States.

The scores of leaflets, documents, pamphlets and other publications, printed not only in English but in Russian and other languages, were studied today by Department of Justice officials, aided by a corps of translators, and will be used in the hearing which will begin tomorrow in many districts to decide whether the aliens arrested shall be deported as anarchists.

Additional arrests were made tonight and the Attorney-General plans to give his personal attention to the complete suppression of the organization which has more than sixty branches pledged by its constitution to overthrow the United States government.

Several American citizens were taken in the raids, according to Mr. Gravan, but have been released since as citizens cannot be deported. But they are being closely watched.

"The History of the Red" according to the pamphlet devoted to that subject and seized among the other documents, "is the history of the enslavement of the masses, the history of oppression, plunder and violence."

"The state is unnecessary because, with the extermination of classes, its principal function will cease—the preservation of the dominion of one class. All the other functions can well be performed by voluntary sectional associations. Who can hinder this? The state, that is why the destruction of the state means the principal work in the formation of the new society."

PROGRAMME EXPLICIT.
The official position of the union, which first appeared Friday, 26, 1918, and which has been denied the use of the mails both in the United States and Canada, is entirely explicit as to what it means by "social revolution" and the methods to be employed in its attainment. "By social revolution" we mean a complete destruction of the present order," it announced in its last issue. "We mean not merely the transfer of government power into the hands of Social Democrats; in order words, not with a view to the political minority with the power we came out to destroy; a dream cherished by the Social Jacobins."

"Social revolution in its phase is an armed insurrection. We might as well use it by its real name right from the beginning, instead of playing terms which are much better suited to the various other social movements."

"It must begin and begin immediately with the turnover of all positions, private and the state, to common control. All resources must be declared common property."

"Complete destruction of private control of natural resources and capital, complete destruction of power to rule and the institutions invested with powers to enforce the rule of one man over another—these are the outstanding features of social revolution."

MORE REDS BAGGED.
AKRON, (O.) Nov. 9.—Twenty-five alleged members of the Russian Workers' Council were being held tonight as the result of a raid by Federal officers and deputy sheriffs on a meeting today. More than 100 men were arrested.

TREATY WILL AFFECT ARIZONA COTTON MEN.
FREE IMPORTATION OF LABOR FROM NORTHERN MEXICO STOPS WITH PEACE.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PHOENIX, (Ariz.) Nov. 8.—Arizona will be seriously affected by the signing of the peace treaty. For several years the Salt River Valley has secured cotton pickers and agricultural laborers from the northern States of Mexico under a wartime lifting of the immigration laws that otherwise would have prevented the passing of any immigrants, unlettered and not well provided with the goods of the world.

The average cotton-picker, who usually comes with his family, in nearly every case is of the peon class, and is as poor as humanity ever gets. The work he has been a godsend to him. Sometimes, though rarely, he saves enough to return home in a comparative state of affluence, though as a rule he simply spends the more while making pay the like of which he never dreamed before. There have been instances where a Mexican family has drawn down $100 a week.

OVER $600 IMPORTED.
The Arizona Cotton Growers' Association has had charge of all importations. It has drained Upper Sonora, and even has affected the supply of miners at Cananea. Resort has been had to Chihuahua, from which large numbers of men have been received lately. In all, this season has shown the importation of 8400 such laborers. Without them, there would have been serious trouble and large loss in handling the 20,000 acres of long-staple cotton in the vicinity of Phoenix. Other labor is not to be had. Even the Indians have cotton of their own to pick.

The Mexicans are to be returned at the end of the present season, and the next season will present a serious condition if the present immigration laws cannot be changed. That there would be strong opposition to such desired modification is not doubted, for the restrictions were put in the bill at the demand of the American Federation of Labor. Yet an attempt will be made to secure a modification that will allow the border States to get cotton-pickers for the 1920 season.

MURDERER OF TEXAS SHERIFF IS KILLED.
MARSHALL, (Tex.) Nov. 9.—Sheriff J. C. Watts was shot and killed instantly by Tony Miller in San Augustine, Tex.

Miller was later shot and killed by Deputy Sheriff Wilkerson. Miller had been arrested and locked up a few days ago for drunkenness. After he was released he started drinking again. Going into a small cold drink shop, he raised a disturbance. An officer went in to arrest him and failed because of Miller's pistol. The officer went out and phoned for Sheriff Watts, who came from home at once, and proceeded to the little store where he found the door closed.

He pushed the door open, and as he stepped in, Miller opened fire. The first shot killed the sheriff. Hearing the shots, Deputy Sheriff Wilkerson came to the scene, and found Miller, armed with a butcher knife, his pistol having been confiscated by bystanders. He ordered Miller to surrender, and on Miller telling him to "go to hell," he shot Miller through the heart.

Watts was a State-wide famous sheriff. He helped in bringing to justice the slayers of a Texas ranger last year and also helped the Federal department of justice in ferreting out and running down the famous "Williams boys" and other draft evaders.

REPUBLICAN WINS IN OKLAHOMA ELECTION.
VICTORY, IN HITHERTO UNBROKEN DEMOCRATIC FIELD, IS UNEXPECTED.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, (Okla.) Nov. 9.—J. W. Harrell, Republican nominee for Congress in the 4th Oklahoma district, was yesterday elected by a majority of 1800 over his opponent, Claude Weaver, Democrat, who had the League of Nations and the support of the Democratic administration as his only and paramount issue of the campaign.

Reports received here show this lead to be maintained with 220 precincts out of 289 reporting. This is the first time a Republican has been elected to Congress from this State with the exception of Dick Morgan.

Okla. City, the home of both candidates, gave Harrell a majority of more than 1200 votes while Logan county, in the northern part of the district, gave him almost 1400 majority.

Weaver carried the four counties in the southern part, but while his lead was 400 in his home county, in the other three he was out of the running. He was not sufficient to overcome the big lead piled up by Oklahoma and Logan counties.

Payne county, which is usually largely Republican, gave Harrell but a majority.

Democrats attribute their loss to inability to get the voters to the polls, while Republicans claim the solid vote is responsible for the victory.

"Atmosphere"
When words can not be found to convey a tangible or subtle idea, the national advertiser turns to the artist.

The artist may be necessary for involved illustration, but his highest value is in creating a proper atmosphere.

In the absence of a Charles Dickens, words are lacking to convey the eager relish that Christmas brings to you through the faces of delighted children.

The grace and elegance of a certain atmosphere can not be easily expounded, but Franklin Booth can for it an atmosphere that is compelling.

There is a world of opportunity as yet untapped in the art of advertising.

When you start—start right. The cost of the best artist is so infinitely small, divided among the readers as to be wholly negligible; while the gain is so enormous, and profit in each case, multiplied by millions of readers, is enormous.

POSING :: IS :: NOW :: A :: REAL :: PROFESSION :: HERE

Even Society Girls Now and Then Do Their Bit in the "All Together."

HOW'S your shape? If it is one of those 7-15 per cent. affairs, you needn't apply. But if its 100 proof 'tis proof enough, there's a lot awaiting you, for, be it known, Los Angeles is budding out as an art center and money is being made in the posing line.

According to John Christopher Smith and other artists of more than 'round-the-baker-block note, there are some thirty Venuses hereabouts and as many Apollos who are earning a living posing for painters and sculptors.

Although, according to Prince Paul Troubetzkoy, intentionally famous sculptor, whose heroic statue of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis has attracted the attention of art journals in this country and abroad,

Archie Corset

Southern California is still too young to go in very heavily for the sculptural art, the climate and scenic beauties of the Southland have attracted hundreds of artists of the brush to this section of the State, and there are scores of schools of art and design, which employ live models.

IS HARD WORK.

"The life of the professional model is one of intense fascination," declared N. Z. Oglethorpe, a "poser," who recently arrived in Los Angeles, and who has posed for many of the famous artists of the East.

"Posing, of course, is very hard work, especially for the amateur, any one of whom will admit, after having posed for a solid hour, that he would rather work with a section gang for an entire day than to 'sit' for an artist three minutes. Anyone may get a good idea of what posing means if he will try to hold his arm at full length for five minutes, without a rest. Such difficult positions as this, however, are seldom required of a model, although when hard positions are demanded the model is allowed to take a brief rest every few minutes. There are several factors that enter into the association of posing and modeling. The most important is, of course, the profession even more interesting than motion-picture work. In motion pictures, the camera catches his facial expressions and his actions, which, of course, are always directed by the producer, and which, therefore, seldom represent the mind or sentiments of the actor or actress. The artist's model, on the other hand, is not only being 'copied,' but is being idealized by the painter or sculptor. There is a vast difference.

WAGES VARY.

Although there is no art model's union in Los Angeles, nor anywhere else, so far as can be learned, there is a generally-recognized scale of wages, running from 25 cents an hour to $6, according to the personal puerility and ability of the model. This scale, however, is often varied by the financial condition of the artist and by the remuneration he receives for his work. As a rule, the artist is extravagantly generous by nature, but too often he finds it difficult enough to earn a living for himself, let alone paying high wages to his model.

The most famous model of modern times, and perhaps of all time, is Antonio Corsi, a native of Atina, Italy, who has been in Los Angeles for the last seven years, owns a beautiful home and studio at 4118 E. 10th street, where he has a large open to the public and in which Mr. Corsi has on exhibit more than 100 complete costumes of prominent characters of various countries and times. Among the great statues for which Mr. Corsi posed are the group of native statues by Leo Lenti, exhibited at the San Francisco fair; "The Slinger," by Lord Frederick Leighton; to be seen in Tate Gallery, London; "The Crucifixion," by Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, the statue being in St. Paul's Cathedral, London. The same statue was sculptured by Mrs. Wilcox for the University of California and by Donnelly and Ricci for St. Mary's Church, New York. Among Corsi's famous characterizations in the field of pictorial art are "The Holy Grail," by Edwin A. Abbey, and "The Story of the Prophets," by John S. Sargent, painted for the Boston Public Library; "The Will of a Fortune," by Sir Edward Burne Jones, painted for Trinity College at Oxford, and "Pasciella," a remarkable work by Du Monde, painted for the San Francisco exposition.

Miss Virginia Calhoun, who, several years ago, wrote a series of articles about Mr. Corsi for The Times, is now engaged in writing a book on the famous model's life. She is a native of Los Angeles, and this is the simple reason that most of them pose under assumed names. It is not that they are ashamed of the work they do, for, in fact, they glory in it, but there is a general feeling among them that the world generally mistakes the profession as a model, especially if she is a woman. Because a woman poses practically nude, they who are people imagine that she is immoral.

"As a matter of fact," said Carl-

WOUND MAY BE FATAL.

Fireman Loses Part of Arm—Carried Gun at Half-cock.

Harry M. Roche, 25 years of age, of 4064 Walton avenue, a fireman attached to engine house No. 29, was probably fatally injured yesterday when the shotgun he was carrying while hunting in the Little Tijuana Canyon exploded, blowing off part of one of his arms.

Roche and his brother-in-law, A. Diemer of 412 East Sixth street, were walking with guns in hand when Diemer noticed the other man's gun was cocked.

"Isn't your gun cocked?" he asked Roche, and before he could get any reply the hammer was snapped and a load of shot entered Roche's arm, near the shoulder.

When taken to the Receiving Hospital, Roche was suffering from a severe loss of blood and shock. Assistant Police Surgeon Goodrich said he considered the man's condition serious. Roche remained at the Receiving Hospital.

SLAIN FROM AMBUSH.

Man Killed on Home Doorstep After Return from Party.

The body of Bernardo Rodriguez, a Mexican laborer, employed at the Simmons brick yards near Bandini station, was found in front of his home yesterday morning, with a bullet hole through the heart. The man was shot just as he was about to enter the place, the investigating officers believe, by someone who waited in ambush.

Deputy Sheriff Allen and Roeder learned the man had been to a party in the vicinity Saturday night and was returning home shortly before midnight. He was 45 years of age and leaves a wife and five children. The cause of the shooting is another Mexican who disappeared about the time Rodriguez was shot.

DEATH FOLLOWS CRASH.

Country Motorcycle Officer is Victim of Highway Accident.

Injuries received last Friday evening, when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on the El Monte road, caused the death of Harold E. Broadwell, a county motorcycle officer, at the County Hospital early yesterday morning.

Mr. Broadwell resided at 343 East Sixty-first street. He was a native of San Francisco, aged 35 years, and leaves a widow and two small children.

Westlake Masonic lodge will conduct the funeral services at the chapel of E. E. Overholzer & Sons Company, at 2 p.m., Wednesday. Six motorcycle officers from the Sheriff's office will serve as pall bearers.

SCHOOLS TOUCH NEW HIGH MARK.

All Records for Enrollment Exceeded in the City During Last Month.

All records for enrollment in the schools of this city were exceeded during October, according to an announcement made yesterday by the superintendent's office. Last month 93,390 students were enrolled compared to 92,348 in the same period last year.

There were 7500 new students admitted to the schools during the month, which, theoretically, makes necessary about 200 new teachers. Acting Superintendent Monlux stated yesterday that the schools of the city have never been so crowded nor the need for teachers so great as now.

SERMON AROUSES STORM

Dean's Slap at President Is Resented by Bible Institute Auditors.

Arousing a storm of protest, many of his auditors left the auditorium of the Bible Institute, yesterday, when Dr. R. A. Torrey, dean of the institution, called the League of Nations "visionary, impossible and deceiving," and followed this up with remarks that were interpreted as stinging slaps at the President.

According to W. H. Bosley and Dr. C. J. Ferguson, who were present, Dr. Torrey had sacrificed his country's honor and the sacred rights of a faithful and trustful ally to his own personal ambitions and obsessions.

Dr. Torrey declared that the League of Nations was the most iniquitous covenant ever entered into by a group of nations, said Mr. Bosley. "He said that Woodrow Wilson had dragged this country's honor in the dust in order to back up the claims of one ally in its efforts to mistreat a weaker ally in China and Korea. At this point in Mr. Torrey's address I left the house and remained in their seats. Among those who left the building when I did were C. L. Kilgore, Miss Irene Ford, Mrs. James R. Townsend, Juliana Townsend, Mrs. E. B. Porter and Dr. C. J. Ferguson.

BEFORE O'CONNOR? "I am a member of Dr. Torrey's church," said Dr. Ferguson, "but when a man gets up in the pulpit and denounces the President as did Dr. Torrey, I part company with him right then. Thousands of our precious young men died in order that this world might see the end of war and Mr. Wilson has practically sacrificed his life for the same cause. To hear a man, like Torrey, refer to our President as a traitor was more than I could stand." The matter was laid before United States District Attorney O'Conner last night, according to Mr. Ferguson, and an investigation is assured.

Dr. Torrey, when called upon the telephone at his home in South Pasadena yesterday afternoon, denied the truth of the oft-repeated story that he had called President Wilson a traitor to his country, but admitted that he had used the following words:

"America is trailing her honor in the dust to gratify the ambitions of a President who has sacrificed his country's interests and his nation's honor, and the sacred rights of a faithful and trustful ally to his own personal ambition and obsessions."

ONLY HANDFUL! "The fact is," said Dr. Torrey, "that only a handful of people left the audience during my discourse, since, apparently, most everyone in the house was thoroughly in sympathy with what I said. As for my attitude towards the President, I wish to say that I voted for him twice and, in the early days of his administration, I sympathized with him and his views, but, under the terrible strain, he seems to have given away, in some fundamental respects, the League of Nations was pushed on him by three nations, sucked the orange and gave him skin. In my recent trip abroad I found a few of those present who are Englishmen or Americans, who are not indignant at America's efforts in regard to the Shantung question. The subject of my sermon was 'How to Have a Heart in These Troubles.' I and my idea in saying what was not to frighten people, but to point them the way to peace and calm.

"The exact words of that part of my sermon which seemed to offend a few of those present were: 'These are troubles in international relations. It is a year, day after tomorrow, the armistice was signed, but there is no peace except in the We could have had peace a year ago if those who were appointed to arrange for peace taken up the very practical matter of making peace among nations. Does anyone imagine there is peace? Look at Italy, look at Czechoslovakia, look at Korea, look at China, look at Japan. I am just back looking at China and looking Japan.'

"But this is not all, nor is it worst. America is today signing one of the most unjust, iniquitous covenants that was ever devised by self-seeking, cruel and unscrupulous men. A covenant that illustrates secret diplomacy at its very worst, a covenant that weak ally—and in treatment of Korea, one of blackest and most damnable in the history of man. And, alas, we are only asked to do it, but we likely to do it."

Following his statement, a "America trailing her honor in dust," and his allusion to President Wilson, Dr. Torrey said that he said: "You ask me, do I not deprecate? Yes, a thousand times, but I do not desire peace at the price of perjury."

WED FIFTY YEARS.

Hollywood Couple Celebrate Golden Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Chase, 1635 Wilcox avenue, Hollywood, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday by keeping "house" at their home. Among those who were present at an informal reception were their children and grandchildren, including: Mrs. C. H. ## SHOWS CITY'S GROWTH.

More Telephones and Service Connections being Installed than Ever Before.

Is Los Angeles growing? The city booster answers in the affirmative, and the last of it is that business and industrial statistics bear him out. On the heels of the news that October was the biggest month in the history of the city water system, more than 600 meter services being set, and the announcement of Controller Anderson of the Public Service Department that in the last six months more than 2000 services have been turned on for the Southern California Telephone Company, yesterday the city's growth is literally swamped with orders. The gas and electric corporations also are doing the heaviest business in their careers.

"We are laying out a mile of mains a week," stated an official of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, yesterday, "and the electric light extensions are being set at a similarly swift rate. To-day we are putting in mains in trunks where from thirty to fifty bungalows are in course of construction. The main residential growth of Los Angeles, of course, is south and west, but the city is expanding in every direction, and the work of the service companies is by no means confined to one particular section of the city."

ONE OUT OF FIVE. A very definite idea of the increase of the population of Los Angeles, as well as of the city's prosperity, is to be noted in the tremendous growth in telephone service. Today it is no trouble to obtain the use of a telephone, for one person out of every five, in Los Angeles, owns a telephone. In January of the present year the Southern California Telephone Company controlled 121,945 telephones. The number of stations to appear in the new directory, which will be issued some time in December, will be 122,635, a gain of 690.

phones in less than one year. The increase for last month alone amounted to 2025. The last directory, issued in May, showed that Los Angeles was using 127,197 phones, and the next directory will show an increase of 6443.

The total number of building permits for the present year is something over 10,000, 80 per cent. of this number being for residences. This means that about 6000 houses have been built or are in course of construction, and officials of a telephone company stated yesterday that the majority of the telephones being installed are for the active or ready in serving him.

N. E. Powley, commercial superintendent of the Southern California Telephone Company, who has had wide experience in the service of the city, stated that the company is literally swamped with orders. The gas and electric corporations also are doing the heaviest business in their careers.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news and also the local news published herein.

FAIRY TALKER.
One of the new women orators declares that fairy stories are immoral and belong to the age of ignorance. Possibly she refers to the kind that friend husband brings home with him at 3 o'clock in the morning.

THE SOOTHESAYERS.
Republicans of the Middle West are now urging the name of Calvin Coolidge as the proper running mate for Gov. Frank O. Lowden on the next Presidential slate. Making up a full ticket is a popular sport; but did anybody ever see one go through?

ONE-EYED WOMEN.
A dispatch from London says that the English women are taking to the monocle and may be seen wearing them on the street as well as in the home or at social functions. We could hardly imagine anything more awesome or terrifying than Lady Britanna with a single windshield for her steady eyes.

PAYING THE DOCTOR.
A New York physician presented a bill of $99,563 against the estate of a widow who had been his patient. He tried hard to run the account up to an even $100,000, but his conscience wouldn't let him. The estate finally paid him $5000 and now the doctor is inclined to be merciful about it. It is almost sorry he didn't present the bill while the patient was alive.

ETHICS AND THE JOB.
Strikers who left their jobs in industries in the Bay City are now working in orchards, packing-houses, and canneries down State. Under strict application of union methods they could not take these places. There would be no other union to head them off. A striker in one union might become a strike-breaker in another and then we would be having union scabs. A man who belongs to a union ought to be mighty careful where he works—it he works at all.

LOST REPUTATIONS.
It is said that the Kaiser has authorized an attorney in Berlin to institute legal proceedings against a German actor who impersonated him in the films and failed to do justice to his subject. If the Kaiser is going to follow up this idea he should be able to get damages enough to pay off the German debt. All he needs is to begin action in the Hollywood Supreme Court. There are 170 different Kaisers there who have served time before the camera with more or less damage to the reputations of the original.

LIVE AND HELP LIVE.
Chairman Hays of the national Republican organization has a slogan which he is trying to introduce into politics. It is this: "Live and help live is not enough; we must live and help live." He is not merely using it for conversation purposes only, but he is actually trying to square the performance with the thought. He has a programme to which he would commit his party and it is one which calls for the justice of right and reason, but not of force. Every now and then the chairman says something good and sensible and behaves as if he meant it.

BLOODTHIRSTY.
The coal-mine strike leaders are disappointed because there is yet no widespread suffering as they had hoped and planned. Hardly anybody has been frozen to death and very few women and children have been numbed by exposure to the blast. However, the strike is still young and there are still a few day strikers who have their eyeballs gladdened by spectacles of intense suffering in the homes of the poor. That is all that will come as the government, the railroads, the factories and the rich have their coal needs already fairly well cared for. But the labor-union leaders promised themselves a sight of suffering and the poor will have to furnish it. These union agitators are a sweet-scented bunch of humanitarians. They love their fellow-man in about the same way as the scorpion cherishes its associates. They are eager to sacrifice their own class and their own dupes for a small portion of notoriety.

MAN, MAID AND MONEY.
The young men in an eastern city have signed up an agreement among themselves to the effect that they take forth the fair ones for entertainment or refreshment it will be on a fifty-fifty basis so far as expense is concerned. But the youths declare that some of the girls are making more money than they are and if they expect them to marry them they must give them a chance to save some money. If the bill is split even both sides will know where they are at and there will be more real companionship than would be the case were the masculine half expected to go broke on the girl every day party. There's many a girl who doesn't have the comradship of the man she desires because he doesn't feel able to stand the strain expected of him. However, this fifty-fifty idea is not likely to spread very far. It suggests a thriftiness of the cheap-skate order.

THE ONE BEST REMEDY.

Work, not whining, is the best remedy for most of the nation's present ills. White men's work, white women's work, everybody's work is the crying need of the hour. The slacker is as great a menace today as he was any time during the war. So long as a large percentage of the population regards itself as superior to actual work, manual work, productive work, we shall moan about the high cost of living in vain.

And work is a thoroughly wholesome and effective remedy. Quite as good for the teller as for the community at large. That good old maxim about Satan finding work for idle hands to do is illustrated every day all over the country. More work for everybody will mean fewer divorces, fewer heart-balm suits, less of this running off with other men's wives epidemic, fewer suicides, fewer "unwritten-law cases," fewer nervous diseases and fewer liver complaints.

The food profiteers on the one hand and union labor on the other are taking a prompt advantage of the national ailment, the great national weakness of putting all the work out. Husky men and women, perfectly capable of a healthy day's work, have acquired this comfortable habit of paying someone else to do it. Large sections of the community have fixed ideas as to what sort of employment is beneath them. What sort of work is suitable to their precious "social position?" and what they will all prefer to perform some superfluous genteel task badly rather than something a trifle more mental in which they might be a success. Thus we have professions like the law, the stage, clerkships, medicine, mind-healing and real-estate over-crowded with inefficient aspirants, while the essential trades are crying out for well-paid help. So many men and women who scorn to earn their living with their hands are overworking inadequate minds in what they are pleased to call "brainwork," maintaining a specious "social position" in a hopeless struggle against ever-increasing prices.

Thousands of good carpenters and good plumbers are lost in inefficient clerks, shoddy lawyers, unappreciated entertainers and struggling medics. Thousands of first-class cooks, housemaids, nurses and seamstresses are wasted in lady educationists, imperfect music teachers, hopeless stenographers and pitiful movie aspirants.

But it isn't necessary for us all to get out and work for pay. It would make a vast and tangible difference to the cost of living if the average citizens would but make a point of doing their own chores, waiting upon themselves, cleaning their own houses, cooking their own meals, shaving their own chins, shampooing their own hair, manicuring their own nails and arbuting their own domestic troubles.

Maybe some of the cafeterias and beauty parlors, the barbers and divorce lawyers would not do quite such a roaring trade; but the average household accounts would come down with such a marked effect and savings accounts go up that the result for the whole community would be well worth the shaving of the profits of the union head.

Time was, when the average man of the house rather prided himself on being a handy fellow who could mend a broken window, fix a faulty lock, put up a needed shelf, repair a rickety chair, repaint a frowny bit of furniture, and even, at a pinch, retint the shabby walls and ceiling and paint the front porch. But this angel in the house is a rare bird nowadays. He puts the jobs out—and groans when the bills come in.

Time was when the average housewife did her own housework, took a pride in her own cooking, held Monday sacred to home laundry, shampooed her own hair and the children's hair, made all the garments for her little brood, raised chickens and vegetables in the back yard and generally made every minute of the day profitable. But now she feels a martyr in her own home, and she falls to her lot and the cafeteria, the apartment-house, the steam laundries and the ready-made garment dealer gain her ready patronage. Yet she can be trusted to read a most logical paper on the high cost of living and the wicked profiteers before her club when she views her rising household accounts with alarm.

Growing.

DEPORT THE ALIEN AGITATORS.

Loyal Americans everywhere will sustain the government in its policy of deporting all aliens known to be conspiring against the peace and safety of the republic. Thousands of unassimilated foreigners in this country are engaged in Bolshevik activities. They have abused the right of sanctuary extended to them by plotting revolution and inciting others to join in an attempt to overthrow the government and establish a soviet despotism on its ruins. They have misused the right of free speech and have proved themselves to be unworthy to associate in a government founded on American institutions.

Because America is a free country it does not follow that it can be made a rendezvous for the anarchistic and criminal elements of Europe. There are now 14,000,000 unassimilated foreigners in this country. At least 7,000,000 of them are unable to speak or write the English language. The greater part of them are engaged in American industries. They are well housed, well paid and well fed. They are enjoying a greater degree of personal prosperity than could have been possible in their native lands. Night schools have been opened for them. They pay no tuition; in some cases the books are supplied free. The whole and only intent is to teach them the fundamentals of Americanism. By a majority these good offices are appreciated; but this educational work is hampered and nullified by a few radicals who have come in with the other immigrants for the purpose of exploiting them for their personal aggrandizement.

Red zealots from Russia and Hungary have been pouring into the country during the last two years under various disguises. They are supplied with letters of credit and they promptly set to work to organize the foreigners into soviet. They have found the labor unions a fertile field for their propaganda and well-intentioned but ignorant foreigners are duped, first by the walking delegates to get them into the unions and then by the red emissaries of Bolshevism, who lead them into open rebellion against the government.

These red agitators have been welcomed by the I.W.O. class and the two are gnawing away at constitutional government like rats eating into a cheese. The foreign workmen were welcomed by the organizers of trade unions; for they were looked upon as a class that could be easily controlled and that would be valuable to start a radical movement in the unions. More than 1,000,000 of the unlettered foreigners have been enrolled in the unions; and they have served to make the unions themselves the tools of the preachers of sedition and revolution.

Paradise is a dream invented by thieves who wish to conceal their brigandage from their victims. When the worker comprehends that the other world of which one speaks to him is a mirage he will knock at the door of the rich thieves, gun in hand, and demand an equal share of the good things of life. Religion, author of government—a single piece of wood has served for carving those idols. We will break them all.

Agents of the Department of Justice found that most of these radical desperadoes are members of the "Union of Russian Workers." When the branch office of this union were raided in different parts of the country on Saturday ample evidence of violent and revolutionary intent was discovered. In some places the members were making bombs; in others they were printing revolutionary literature. Part of the evidence points to a union between the pro-German and Bolshevik elements. None but the parlor Bolsheviks like the rich Altadons would class these plotters of violence as good citizens. Granting that they are sincere in their beliefs, they are plainly not in sympathy with American institutions. The proper place for them is under Lenin and Trotsky they can plot and bomb to their hearts' content; and the industrial atmosphere of America will be purified by their presence. America is a sanctuary of freedom; it is not a cesspool into which the filth of Europe can be emptied with impunity. Sending those foreign agitators back to their own dung hills will serve as an object lesson to the other foreigners in this country that the right of liberty carries with it the duty to use that liberty for the good of the community and there are no rights without corresponding duties.

A COMMON PEOPLE'S UNION.
Capital is organized for self-preservation. Labor is organized for self-advancement. But in the operations as between these two sections, the other—the unorganized middle—the section which is the butt, the sufferer and the burden-bearer when capital and labor are contending—has no locus standi and no representation. Within this body are the brain-workers—the commercial and trading, the professional and administrative and managerial classes and those whose income is derived from pensions or savings. The middle classes union in England exists to weld together those unorganized and unrepresented middle classes into a strong, practical, co-ordinated entity for the protection of common interests. (Leithrop Stoddard in the World's Work.)

Up in Washington the State Federation of Labor collected $10,000 for the defense of Tom Mooney, the convicted murderer. Of this amount $800 is still in the treasury of the organization and the balance has been spent in "salaries and expenses." Not a dollar collected by the committee has been sent to Mooney's defense. In other words, the money was raised for the comfort of the Mooney agitators. Thus Mooney pays both ways.

And so this is Sahara, and no oasis in sight.

DROLL STORIES.

Baby Gets a Lesson.

Tells from the nursery brought the mother, who found baby gleefully pulling Bobby's curls.

"Never mind, darling," she comforted, "baby doesn't know how it hurts."

Half an hour later wild shrieks from the baby made her run again to the nursery.

"Why, Bobby," she cried, "what is the matter with baby?"

"Nothing, mother," said Bobby calmly, "only now he knows."

(London Ideas.)

Some Still Bleed.
"The late John Morgan Richards," said an editor, "was known to fame as the father of John Oliver Hobbs and as the biggest American patent medicine advertiser of the past generation."

"Richards had an attack of influenza during the epidemic of 1899 and a fashionable London specialist pulled him through."

"Richards met the specialist a month or two later."

"By the way, doctor," he said, "is it true that you physicians have abandoned bleeding?"

"Quite true," the doctor agreed. "We haven't done any bleeding for a hundred years."

"Surely, then, doctor," he said, "there's a serious mistake in my bill."

(Washington Star.)

Servantless Days.
The head of one house where "wait conditions" had left the place helpless drove his daughter to a party. The head of the house where the party was held was perforce acting as his own carriage man and door opener.

Afterward, when they were formally presented, one said:

"I certainly must beg your pardon for something, sir."

"What is it?"

"You know that night when you drove your daughter to my daughter's party?"

"Yes."

"Well, when I came to open the door I thought you were your chauffeur."

"Cheer up! I thought you were your butler!" (Farm Life, England.)

A Farmer's Judgment.
Eldridge Gerry, the young New York society leader who contributed greatly last winter to the entertainment of American soldiers at Nice, tells many doughty anecdotes.

"The average doughty," said Mr. Gerry, "is no admirer of the French woman's exaggerated make-up—rouged lips, painted eyebrows and very thick layer of powder."

"I was strolling one day on the Promenade des Anglais with a young corporal when an extremely stout and portly Frenchman came up and asked me for a cigarette."

"There, I said to my corporal, 'what do you think of her?'"

"The corporal, a Texas farmer, eyed the young woman for a minute and then said:

"Well, sir, it's bad ground that takes so much top-dressing."

(Albany Knickerbocker Press.)

She Got Her Line.
A certain young actress had a small part in a "war" drama—a very small part—and she was not satisfied. So one morning, after rehearsal, she set out to interview the boss.

"I have only one line in the first act," she pouted, "and but one in the second. Couldn't you give me a line for the third act also?"

"Well, yes," he replied. "When the bombardment scene is on and the hero is crouching in his dugout you may enter and say, 'Here is a dud!'"

"Oh, thanks!" she exclaimed. "And do I bring an unexploded shell on the stage with me?"

"No," answered the actor-manager. "It's not a speech, my dear; it's a confession." (Blighy.)

RIPPLING RHYMES.

A YEAR OF PEACE.

We've had a year of balmy peace, since captains said, "Let firing cease," where warred armies stood; it's been a year since cannon roared and soldiers waved the flashing sword, and we find peace good?

I have a beefsteak on my eye; a neighbor let a dorking fly and made the blundering black; and in a scarp down by the jail my hat was flattened with a rail, my coat split up the back. My sideburns now are flecked with gore, my battered head is always sore from many swats and blows; I have a riot every day and when we're hauled the wreck away I help to plant the stiffs. Some fellow robbed me of my wealth and broke in half a dozen teeth and I'm a sight to see; I can't enjoy my morning walks, for some one's always throwing rocks wherever I may be. I cannot warble peace-time hymns; I'm picking blisters from my lips and have no time to spare; and every time I take my lyre to burble like a house afire some fellow pulls my hair. The quiet of old days is gone; whenever I turn I catch a lot of scuffling men; the air is full of fur all day, so take the Room of Peace away and give me war again.

WALT MASON.

If we pretend to ban anarchists from the country we must be consistent about it and keep out the carefully-manufactured, well-read, polite advocates of political chaos, female as well as male, along with the unwashed caricature of an agitator so popular in the public imagination. (New York Sun.)

The learned doctors of the United States Senate, who in the cloakrooms are discussing cerebral lesions, might profitably turn their attention to the various cases of criminal ossification that have developed recently in their midst, so to speak. (New York World.)

Almost any day we may expect advice from Lenin and Trotsky telling how to prevent disorders in this country. (Indianapolis News.)

"SIGHT UNSEEN."

BY DORA OLIPHANT COE.

You know the game. One small boy extends to another a tightly-closed right hand with the back up-fermost. If the second boy is a good sport he digs into his pockets and brings out something he is willing to trade, and his right hand, closed and palm down, goes out to meet the first boy's left hand while his left is, palm up, beneath the hand which holds the unseen article offered for exchange. Both boys stand a second, looking into each other's eyes, then say, "Sight Unseen," and the closed fists open. The transaction is complete. There is a code of honor among boys which requires that the proffered article shall not be without value and that neither one shall "kick" afterwards.

"Sight Unseen" each boy takes a chance, but in the case of the pig certain prizes are stated and certain conditions are to follow. The financial consideration in regard to Judge Brown's pig, goodness knows, is utterly beyond reason when one considers the true value of the porker, but that other thing which the club-women have agreed to give is the thing which has aroused my ire.

Judge Brown came to the ladies with a good speech and offered to sell them the pig which he carried concealed in a poke. On the strength of his selling talk and without demanding that he let the pig out that they all might see it or waiting until all had seen the women have bought this pig and have proposed to go and see it "in a body"—dandy publicity stuff—without ever realizing that it is later to be displayed to the world as a "Prize Pig," as the standard of the taste, intelligence and discrimination of the women of Los Angeles.

I would like to state right here that it is not anything of the sort. We have wonderful women in our city, women with taste and discernment the equal of the most discriminating in the whole world. "Surprising Carlotta" was chosen by the committee because the work of the best motion-picture producers is tied up with other distributors or because the price was more within reach.

Los Angeles is the very heart of the motion-picture industry and it is an insult to every studio to send out to the world the statement that the clubwomen selected "Surprising Carlotta" as the dullest and most wholesome of all the films produced here.

In the first place, it is anything but wholesome. The entire teaching is hurtful and misleading.

David Belasco knows more about the stage than anyone else now living and he says "Nothing for Nothing" should be written in letters of fire above every stage door.

Anyone who knows anything about theatrical life knows that the road to stardom is long and weary and that it is a heart-breaking struggle to reach the first rung of the ladder. Yet in this play stage-struck girls (and you'd be surprised how many there are) will see an illiterate Italian girl who has never conditioned anything but the lowest conditions of life receiving a big role, money the very day she signs her first contract; will see her given that contract because of the most shallow reason and without artistic or personal merit; will see her out of the building in which she met the manager and get into the machico of a young wholesale merchant (who loves her, though the growth of his love has not been shown, only stated); will hear her friend—the man who introduced her to the manager—say, "I'll rent those apartments for you today, Carlotta." Will see her next in sumptuous rooms, beautifully furnished and waited upon by a ridiculously-dressed "maid" will see her display cloaks, hats and gowns that have cost a fortune and ride in a wonderful motor car with her "maid" and dog—and all this before she has made her first appearance on the stage and before she has learned to speak correct English.

But that isn't all. Carlotta is in cahoots with a gang of boy thieves and the pictures tell how the stealing is done. There is no punishment shown. Only one word of censure is spoken and the penalty imposed by the judge is, in truth, an award and is recognized as such by the boys.

The boys themselves are daring and play the parts bravely, but they are far less wholesome than the boys in the Christie comedy which is being run with "Surprising Carlotta."

In the comedy the young brother of a girl tries to sneak for candy which his sister's sweetheart has brought to her and gets a spanking from his father for the attempt. Angry at the punishment, little brother takes the family silver and puts it in the overcoat pockets of the "bean." Then he and his chum tie the clothe-line across the front door and cause complications which almost prove serious. But the small boy "fesses up" and everything works out beautifully in the end.

There is a vast difference between stealing from ice boxes and playing a trick on sister's bean.

We have clean plays, lots of them, and it is not fair to say that if support is not forthcoming for this play "the conclusion will be that the demand for cleaner pictures is not sincere." I went straight from seeing it to a crowded house which was holding Dorothy Gish in a charming play.

Qualified by Early Experience.
A fellow was asking us the other day how it comes that Dante could write so entertainingly about Hades when he had never been there. That's easy. When Dan was a young man he ran a country newspaper for four years. (Arkansas Thomas Cat.)

Seeing that we are producing more than $10,000,000 worth of buttons each year it would seem in the opinion of friend husband, that there should be enough to go around and be in place on shirts and other articles of manly wear.

MAY POSTPONE PERJURY TRIAL

Case of Fox, Widow Swindler, to Await Appeal.

Said to Have Changed Plea of "Woman Tempted Me."

Now Boasts of "Charms" that Attract Fair Sex.

The versatility of George A. Fox, expert of defrauding Mrs. Anna Walters, wealthy Santa Ana widow, out of $100,000, is being tested today, although a perjury charge is scheduled to be heard in Superior court. A conviction may be asked by the District Attorney's office.

The complaint accusing Fox of perjury was issued July 9, while his trial for a new trial was being held at the County Jail. He had pleaded guilty to perjury on $10,000 bond, but later failed to appear in court. His case was called after a hearing and he was released. He had been arrested at Healdsburg and put in the County Jail. He was later released on $10,000 bond and came to Los Angeles.

FOX'S CHARM
Fox's defense, when charged with perjury, was that he was a victim of a woman's charms. He claimed that he was a victim of a woman's charms and that he was a victim of a woman's charms.

The charge on which Fox is being tried is that he perjured himself at his trial. He was charged with perjury at his trial. He was charged with perjury at his trial.

TWO HOMES LOOTED.

Burglars Flew with Gems, Rugs Worth Four Thousand.

Two burglaries in the Wilshire and Westlake districts, involving loss of more than $4000, were reported to the police yesterday. The first was at the home of Mrs. L. H. Chapin, 947 Gramercy place, where the burglars got away with three oriental rugs valued at $1500 and a seal fur worth $250.

The other burglary was at the home of Mrs. H. P. Taylor, 1461 West Adams street. There the loss was reported to the University police as $2500, three diamond rings being taken.

TALLY SECURES UNIQUE ORCHESTRA.

MEXICAN ORGANIZATION DELAYS PARIS TRIP TO PLAY HERE.

That the famous Compañía Tipica Mexicana Orchestra, under direction of Miguel Lerdo de Tejada, Mexico's greatest composer, has been secured for an unlimited engagement at Tally's Kinema and Broadway theaters, was the information given out yesterday by T. J. Tally.

The twenty-one members of the orchestra arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from San Antonio, Texas, where they had been their intention to proceed to Paris, France. It was through the aid of Prof. Jose M. Yela, a local musician, that Mr. Tally succeeded in persuading Senor Lerdo to abandon his trip to Europe and come to Los Angeles instead.

In addition to the musicians, the Tipica Company includes several noted singers and dancers, among them being Jose Rosas, who was the teacher of Pavlova when that famous artist was in Mexico a few years ago to learn Mexican methods of dancing. The orchestra is unique in the fact that it renders the old Mexican airs on strange instruments, many of which, it is said, have never yet been heard in Los Angeles. Among these are the salterio, bandolones, guiro, bajo de esquila, cantrabaja, Indian marimba and the castanuelas.

Among the musicians are Conrado Tobo, a noted pianist, and Mr. Clark, a tenor of considerable reputation. Prof. Lerdo, whose "Perjurio" has been translated into practically every language in the world, is a nephew of Don Sebastian Lerdo, who was President of Mexico before the time of Diaz. Prof. Lerdo has announced his intention of going to Washington, soon, to play for President Wilson.

SHIP WAS WRECKED OFF HOLLAND COAST.

CAPTAIN TELLS OF SINKING OF LOS ANGELES-MADE CRAFT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Nov. 9.—Detail news of the sinking of the steamer West Arada, which struck a mine and went down twelve miles off the coast of Holland, was received here today in a letter from Capt. S. A. Crosby, master of the ship.

The West Arada was built by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, and took a cargo of Pacific Coast products to Europe on her maiden trip. The mine exploded under the ship beneath the bridge and officers' quarters. Capt. Crosby was bruised and stunned, his chief engineer badly injured and one fireman killed. The explosion cracked the ship from the deck to below the water line. The damage below was unknown. Describing the accident, Capt. Crosby writes:

"I have heard how captains felt when they saw their ships go down, and thought I understood, but now I know. It is different from that emotion one feels in losing a near relative; in a way it is more potent. Think of seeing a grand, noble ship (for she was a splendid one) just as something animate, careening over first to one side and then to the other, and finally settling gradually, as though reluctant to give up, sinking, sinking beneath the sea, not to speak of the enormous money involved, for it represented in the neighborhood of $5,000,000."

CONVERT PASTURES INTO FRUIT FARMS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
PORTERVILLE, Nov. 9.—More than 1000 acres of Poplar district land, west of here, have been sold during the last week, and property which has formerly been devoted to alfalfa and dairying is to be improved for deciduous fruits.

As a result of the demand for property, raw land is now bringing around $250 per acre, as against about half that as the prevailing price during the war period.

One of the significant facts of this land movement is that the purchases are being made largely by practical vineyard men of the Fresno and Dinuba districts, where land values are on a much higher level.

LABOR-SAVING ELECTRICAL DEVICES ARE BOON TO HOME-MAKERS

Electric Range.

One of the most important devices to which electricity is applied is the electric range, which greatly reduces the work of getting meals. The housewife today places her roast in the oven, sets the clock to turn on the heat at the right time and goes to the club. She has no worry about the meal. She knows it will be ready when she returns in the evening. At the time when she places the roast in the oven, she puts her vegetables on a top burner. With the same heat she can utilize her broiler and her warming oven.

When she sets the clock, she also marks the temperature at which the food is to cook. If an article is to be slowly cooked at a low heat she has but to set her heat regulator and the food will be cooked with the temperature. When the heat rises above the desired degree, it is automatically shut off. The stove then acts upon the fireless cooker principle, the retained heat being used.

The surface burners can be regulated at any heat. A temperature equal to a high blaze or a very slow simmer can be obtained. There is no danger of a sudden gust of wind blowing out the blaze and there is no danger from fire. The cost of operation is low.

Washing Machine.

One of the most cheaply operated electric devices used in the home is the washing machine. A family of six can have every article washed for 2 cents. This includes the cost of operating the wringer. In the machine the clothes are saved. The water and the suds are forced through the clothes and no rubbing is necessary.

The clothes are placed in the drum and the power applied. The wash can then be forgotten for several minutes and when it is ready to be taken out, the power is switched to the wringer. The clothes are much cleaner than under the old method and the housewife feels no fatigue.

For 1 Cent.

One manufacturer lists the things that you can do for 1 cent's worth of electricity. The list includes the churning of thirty-three pounds of butter, the milking of ten cows, the separating of sixty gallons of milk, and the stuffing of 300 pounds of sausage. What could be cheaper?

Sewing Machine Motor.

The estimated cost of operating a sewing machine by electricity is 10 cents a month. The average housewife will say that it is worth 10 cents to dispense with the treadle. The motor can be attached to any machine, or a sewing machine may be purchased with this equipment.

The motor is operated and kept constantly under control by a foot. Any moment the foot is lifted from the switch, the power stops. Any speed can be obtained on this device. Some manufacturers have placed a cabinet sewing machine on the market that occupies but very little space and is portable.

Electric Dish Washer.

The electric dish washer does away with the old tedious task of washing dishes. They are removed from the table and placed on a rack. The rack is put in a large metal box and then the dishes are deluged with a spray of scalding water. They are cleaned and sterilized. In three minutes they are ready to be taken out of the washer and placed on the shelves. They have even been polished.

Floor Waxes.

When the young people plan on a dance it is not necessary to have the floor re-waxed. Just haul out the electric waxer and the job is done. The polisher resembles a vacuum cleaner in appearance. Under the motor is a revolving brush and as the machine is run over the floor on which wax has been sprinkled, the motor takes on an entirely different aspect. The polisher is done at a very low cost and with no effort. A result superior to the hand polished floor is obtained.

The Heaters.

One of the most comforting devices found in the stores is the small electric heater. This can be carried from room to room and gives off a cozy glow that is welcome everywhere. The heater is a pressed copper disk with a heating element in the center. The heat rays are thrown out into the room. There is no vapor and no danger from a blaze. This is one of the largest selling devices manufactured.

Electric Mangle.

An electrically operated mangle dispenses of sheets, pillowcases, tablecloths, in fact, any flat piece can be quickly run through. Night shirts or similar articles can be partially run through and the balance ironed by hand. The expense of operation is extremely low. A whole wash can be done at a cost not to exceed three cents.

The Vacuum Cleaner.

This is probably the most popular electrical device ever put on the market. It cleans the rugs and draperies and dusts the furniture in a way that the best housewife can but imitate. Lace curtains last longer when the cleaner is run over them every day. This keeps the dust out and it is not necessary to launder them so often. Vacuum cleaners preserve the rugs by keeping the dust out and keeping the nap standing.

Through the use of vacuum cleaners, rug dealers and importers of expensive oriental rugs and carpets have solved the problem of serious deterioration of their stocks in salesrooms and warehouses.

Formerly these expensive rugs gathered dust and grime in their long journeys from maker to consumer. Their value often runs into the thousands and it was impossible through former methods of cleaning to maintain their fresh, new appearance.

For Milady.

Think of milady's comfort. A small iron in her bedroom always ready at the snap of the switch to press a shirt waist or skirt, or an electric curling iron, small and convenient, ready heated to just the right temperature to curl milady's hair.

Yes, all of these conveniences and many others are at your command. Electricity generated hundreds of miles away is waiting at your door ready to be utilized through the electrical appliances to fill the place of the ever-decreasing number of servants.

In the Bathroom.

In the bathroom the cozy glow of the electric heaters give a soothing warmth. After the bath and on chilly mornings a snap of the switch brings the cheery electric rays to your bedside.

Bedroom Comforts.

One of the comforts of a room is the electrical wa. This is a cloth device the heat at just the right temperature. It is a hot water bottle. It is a glowing heat that is not dangerous. Both are laid at the desired temperature.

The Oven.

For the girl or young woman, there is nothing quite as useful as an electric oven. It is a very small oven in which bread can be baked or a hot water bottle. It is a glowing heat that is not dangerous. Both are laid at the desired temperature.

LEAD IN USE OF "JUICE."

Los Angeles Homes Have More Electrical Devices Than Any Others.

"Electricity in the home is in more common use in Los Angeles than in any other city of the world." This statement was made by a dealer in electrical appliances, yesterday. When asked why, he replied that there are several reasons. One is the low rate charged for electrical energy here. Another is the fact that the homemaker of Southern California demands a quick, clean way of doing her work, so that she may get out and enjoy the climate.

The dealer went into detail. He took each room of a house. From the basement to the attic he climbed, showing every room with its electrical appliances. In the cellar, where several batteries once supplied the energy for the doorbell, a small device now takes the juice of the light wire. In the screen porch, near the laundry trays, he displayed the washing machine, the iron, the mangle. In the kitchen he showed the electric range, the egg-beater, the ventilating fan, the electric ice-making machine on the ice box, and the electric dishwasher.

Then he stopped in the closet just off the entry, and there stood the vacuum cleaner, with the electric floor water. In the dining-room were the plate warmer, the percolator, the heater in the corner. Out in the breakfast-room stood a whole shelf of appliances. On the wall, a small clock, a device on which to fry pancakes or eggs, an ovenette for baking light rolls, a toaster, and a smaller heater than that used in the larger room.

DRIVEN BY "JUICE."

The photograph in the living-room was driven by electricity. In the drawing-room stood a beautiful grand piano, which was electrically operated. Out on the porch, where the family sit, was a fan. From there he passed to the upstairs. In the bathroom stood a heater of still another design. The shaving appliances were on display, and an electric immersion heater to heat the water for shaving or washing. In the boudoir was a vibrator, a curling iron, a hair drier, a massage appliance, a heating pad for the bed, and a device to make a marcelle wave. Then the sewing room, with its motor-driven machine, was displayed.

The dealer was enthusiastic. He had a right to be. Mother says today when thinking of the old place where she was raised: "Home was never like this." Take these appliances out of the residence of today, and you have few comforts left.

The energy that is used on all these devices is at the city's door. In the mountains, hundreds of miles from Los Angeles, are the great hydroelectric plants of the local companies. Here the power is generated by water—by the endless mountain streams. Then it is brought over a small wire to the city. When the power is generated and released, it is of high voltage. This is carried over the desert stretches and the high mountains to the small units here. It is then transformed into low-voltage current and is ready to be used in the home. It is always on tap. There is no need to lay in the winter's supply of fuel. It is there when you want it, and it is turned off when you are through. There is no waste, no short measure, no over-supply to save until it is needed. Just what you want, just when you want it.

BEST STORES HERE.

Los Angeles is said to have the finest electrical stores in the United States. K. E. Van Kuran of the Westinghouse Company, says that the service rendered by the California power companies is superior to that furnished anywhere.

"Better electrical service to the public is the aim of the California co-operative campaign, recently instituted here," said Mr. Van Kuran. "Through the efforts of the local power companies and the manufacturers, a number of highly-trained men have been employed to assist the electrical dealers in improving their merchandising methods, and give the public better service on all things electrical. The campaign so far has proved very successful, and Los Angeles can compliment itself on having the finest electrical stores of any city in the United States."

Electricity is the cleanest, driest and most healthful heat generated, he says. All appliances in which this power is used give off nothing but a dry, vaporless heat. There is no soot, no grease, and no excessive warmth on a hot day. When you desire the house to be cool, you can use these devices. They are quick, attractive, clean. A row of shining nickel adds to the appearance of any dining-room. In such instruments as pianos or phonographs, the motor is silent and invisible. On the sewing machine it permits a smaller cabinet than heretofore. On an electrically-driven machine, there is no treadle or underpart to operate.

The woman who has but a small room in a hotel can have these devices on which to prepare a light meal. She can have her electric curling iron, her face massager machine and her hair drier for her dressing table, and a small grill or toaster for a light repast.

There are a thousand uses for electricity in the home. New ways are constantly being found to make life more enjoyable through its use.

IN TUG OF WAR.

State Strength Test Between Electric and Steam Locomotive.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

ERIE (Pa.) Nov. 7.—Prominent railway executives and engineers representing many of the eastern and northwestern lines of the United States assembled at the works of the General Electric Company here today, to witness a spectacular exhibition of a new gearless electric passenger locomotive for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway. One of the locomotives was put through exhaustive trials, including a test of strength between an electric locomotive and an electric locomotive.

Among the invited guests were: W. J. Patterson, president, Santa Fe; H. E. Byram, Federal director, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway; Marvin Huggitt, chairman, board of directors, Chicago and Northwestern; L. W. Hill, president, Great Northern; J. R. Stephens, chief engineer, Missouri Pacific; G. E. Slade, vice-president, Northern Pacific; E. Fritch, vice-president, Rock Island; J. A. Shaw, Canadian Pacific; E. E. Walker, Canadian National Railway; E. W. Rice, Jr., president, General Electric Company; F. C. Pratt, vice-president; G. E. Kimmons, general manager; W. B. Potter, engineer; A. H. Armstrong, railway department, and J. O. Baukat and G. H. Brown, Hydroelectric Power Commission of Ontario.

RAINBOW VETERANS RECALL LAST FIGHT.

DIVISION CHAPTER CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY OF FINAL DAY UNDER FIRE.

Celebrating the anniversary of their last day under shell-fire, the Southern California Chapter of the Rainbow Division Veterans held a reunion and "armistice ball" Saturday night at the Kramer ballroom, 1600 South Figueroa street. The affair was a feature of the affair was the return of Ned Connor, formerly of Company F, One Hundred and Seventeenth Engineers, who was severely wounded a year ago yesterday on the company's last day at the front. Connor, who formerly lived at 312 West Vermont in this city, is visiting friends here on a two weeks' furlough from the Letterman Hospital in San Francisco, where he is undergoing medical treatment for his wounds.

About 250 couples enjoyed the dancing and card playing in the intermission two little girls, Elizabeth and Beatrice Turner of Glendale, aged 4 and 5 years respectively, danced, and Master Robert Lehman, aged 6, also of Glendale, said to be the youngest female impersonator, gave characteristic impersonations of girls.

The committee in charge consisted of C. F. Calhoun, Grant Spier, G. Lee Evans, H. B. Wells, L. L. Gay and Austin Longworth. The ladies' auxiliaries of Companies E and F of the 117th Engineers also helped to make the affair a success.

FOR RADIO OPERATORS.

Examinations will be Conducted Here Soon by Inspector.

An examination for first-grade commercial radio licenses will be conducted at the Y.M.C.A. radio schools at 9 a.m. Friday, under the direction of J. F. Dillon, radio inspector, navigation service, Department of Commerce, San Francisco. The work will be given in connection with the regular wireless course offered by the local Y.M.C.A. Ten students of wireless in the Y.M.C.A. school will take the examination. Tests for amateurs will take place Thursday at 9 a.m.

Arrangements have been made to include other students of radio who desire to be examined. It was expected that several hundred applicants would register for this occasion. Increases in salary of radio operators to $125 per month, with board and room, has created a new interest in this line of work, according to J. L. McKinnon, principal of the Y.M.C.A. radio school. More than 200 young men have been graduated from this institution during the past year.

DE VALERA IS UNPOPULAR.

Citizens Uphold Opposition to Welcome to Sinn Fein Head Here.

The Times is in receipt of a number of letters congratulating this newspaper on its editorial utterances on the coming of De Valera to Los Angeles, several of which are here published:

"To the editor of The Times: I wish to commend the courageous and outspoken position you have taken in denouncing the proposed public reception to be given Eamon de Valera.

"The best citizenship of our city and of the country will support you in this righteous stand.

"Sincerely yours,

"To the Editor of The Times: It is with pleasure I convey to you sincere and hearty appreciation of the officers and members of Kitchen Post, World War Veterans, for your timely and most excellent leading article in The Times of yesterday's date, 'No Welcome for the Disloyal'.

"At the meeting of Kitchen Post, W.W.V., last night the article was read from the chair and unanimously endorsed, as was also a resolution of confidence and thanks to The Times for such outspoken and truly American sentiments.

"Yours very truly,

"[Signed]

"EDWARD P. BARCLAY,

"STILL PRO-GERMAN.

"To the Editor of The Times: The heartfelt thanks of every patriotic citizen of the city and of the country are due to the timely and fearless denunciation of De Valera, the self-appointed president of the Irish republic, for his cunning camouflage used by the so-called friends of Irish freedom cannot conceal the fact that De Valera is head of the Sinn Fein was an active accomplice of the Kaiser during the war.

"Official records show that during the dark days when the fate of civilization hung in the balance, De Valera was secretly plotting to land a German army in Ireland.

"Admiral Sims has recently told in a magazine article about the brutal treatment our brave sailors received at the hands of his Sinn Fein outfit, which constantly plotted to interfere with our naval operations. In view of the facts Los Angeles will put a stain on her honor which can never be effaced, if she touches the hand of De Valera.

"All who were pro-German during the war are pro-Sinn Fein now and no doubt they will be thrilled to see and welcome De Valera, one of the Kaiser's warmest friends and most willing helpers.

"Of course it would be much nicer if the Kaiser, the Crown Prince and Heiser could be here to march in triumph with De Valera. If Heiser cannot perhaps some of his local representatives, who have for a long time been lost to all sense of shame and openly glory in their Sinn Fein proclivities, will parade with De Valera.

"[Signed]

"JOHN MARSHALL.

"Los Angeles, Nov. 5, 1919.

"To the Editor of The Times: I note in this morning's Examiner a statement made by Mr. Anthony Schwann to the effect that 'Catholics who are not Irish' will rally to the support of 'President' De Valera. As a Catholic, neither Irish nor German, I wish to protest against this statement. It is unfair to the great body of loyal American Catholics.

"Moreover, it appears to me that those individuals, whether of the clergy or the laity who attempt to play upon religious prejudices in favor of a political scheme, do harm both to their cause and to their religion.

"I enclose my card.

ASK FLOOD PROTECTION.

Need of hurried work under the county's flood control plans to safeguard the citrus orchards against winter freshets, was voiced at a meeting of the packing-house managers of all the Mutual Orange Distributors' plant in banquet-convention at the Alexandria, Saturday evening. Manager C. P. Earley said in his annual address:

"The citrus grower is not so deeply concerned with his financial problems in these days as of yore. Domestic purposes for 15,000 acres are giving California citrus growers a full share of widespread prosperity. I have heard of Valencia groves selling as high as $6000 an acre.

"But over all the present happiness is a dread of the dangers that exist because of flood damages likely to follow because of the free upon the watershed. Unless the horticultural and business interests of Southern California bring pressure upon public officials to demand and more of the public funds to watershed protection, instead of to valley beautification schemes, and until we spend as much upon our watersheds as we do upon our fine highways we stand in the constant danger of having large portions of our most highly-developed territory wiped from the field of active production."

Other speakers referred to several difficulties that are incident to the existent need of commercial activity. Principal among these is the scarcity of box shooks, which is likely to become a serious factor in the handling of this year's crop.

TO IRRIGATE MANY ACRES.

Application to divert water from Temecula Creek, for the purpose of irrigating and furnishing water for domestic purposes for 15,000 acres in Riverside county, was filed Saturday with the State Water Commission by Margaret R. Vail, N. R. Vail, Mary E. Vail and Mahlon Vail, of Los Angeles, and William Banning, all of Sonorita, Ariz., operating as Vail & Company.

Request is to be made to divert forty-five cubic feet of water per second for direct diversion, and 40,000 acre feet per year for storage purposes. The diversion works is to consist of a pipe and open canal 1 1/2 miles long and a dam 115 feet high, 500 feet long on top and 100 feet at the bottom. The dam is to be of rubble, concrete and cyclopean masonry. The estimated cost of the dam is $200,000.

George F. Fowler of Huntington Beach has applied for permission to divert twenty-five cubic feet of water per second from Freeman River and a drainage canal flowing into Freeman River in Orange county, for the purpose of irrigating about 2600 acres of agricultural land known as Huntington Beach Mesa.

HER CLEW FAILS IN SEARCH FOR ROBBER.

JEWELRY STORE BANDIT STILL AT LIBERTY IN SPITE OF WOMAN'S STORY.

Following a search of a rooming-house district in the city for Frank White, who blackjacked Jacob Fruden of the Prudential Jewelry Company, at 545 1/2 South Spring street, Friday afternoon, and attempted to loot the shop, Police Detectives Wood and Murphy yesterday stated that the name "Frank White" must be an alias and that the bandit is living under another name somewhere in the city. All the information obtained by the police from Mrs. Corinne Herring, following her arrest Friday night, was followed up by the detectives yesterday, but at a late hour last night the police stated that they have been unable to find any trace of the robber.

According to the story told by Mrs. Herring, she came to know White through a chance meeting. He never told her his address, but she later learned that he lived in the Prudential Jewelry Company to purchase a diamond-encrusted Mrs. Herring by White, but on each occasion White stated he would return later and get the stone.

"When we went into the shop," said Mrs. Herring, "I knew nothing of what White was planning. When he struck Mr. Fruden over the head I fled. The reason I ran was because I became frightened and thought only of getting away. I intended no wrong and would have reported the whole matter to the police later."

BELVEDERE COMPANY WOULD ADD TO INCOME.

Declaring that the increase in the cost of materials and labor and higher taxes have made its present rates for water noncompensatory, the Belvedere Water Company has applied to the State Railroad Commission for authority to increase its rates. The company wants to charge a minimum of $1; 16 cents per 100 cubic feet for from 100 to 1000; 13 cents per 100 cubic feet for from 1000 to 5000, and 6 cents for all over 5000 cubic feet. It is estimated that this schedule of rates will yield a revenue of $48,153, as against the company's present revenue of $36,553.

PICTURE A SUCCESS.

Woman's Club Film Is Bought by Many Theaters Here.

The picture play "Surprising Carolla," sponsored by the Better Film Committee of the Los Angeles Woman's City Club, has had a successful second week's run here, according to reports received by the committee. The second week was even better than the first, it was said.

The committee has received a number of offers from local theaters to show the picture for continued runs but has not yet decided where it will be shown next. Many letters have been received by the committee praising the picture.

YOUR OBEDIENT SERVANT

The housewife of today has electricity to thank for the lifting of many manual burdens from her shoulders.

The progressive housewife no longer thinks of wearing out herself and her rugs by the old-time broom-sweeping process nor by injurious rug-beating. She uses an electric sweeper, which saves her rugs, makes no dust or confusion and is more like play than work.

She does not think of breaking her back scrubbing clothes in a wash tub any more. She finds it more economical to use an electric washer, and much more pleasant. She does the ironing by electricity. She makes the toast right at the table on her electric toaster, and it is more delicious than any toast she ever made the old way. She curls her hair with her electric iron. She employs electricity to perform almost every household operation.

And with the present-day scarcity of domestic help, electric home equipment is proving the solution of the problem in thousands of homes. Always at your service, no afternoons or evenings off.

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation is happy to be identified with so vital a service to the housewives of Los Angeles.

It has always been the purpose of this corporation to render a service as nearly perfect as sincere effort and efficient organization can make it and to supply electric current at the lowest cost which competent management and economic operation can make possible.

"Spark" Nelson was dying, and—his young pal in crime felt the warm tears trickling down his cheeks. He wasn't only thinking of "Spark," but of "Spark's" motherless kiddies up the river in the little factory town, and that was why—yes, that was why—

CROOK PLAYS GALORE.
THREE IN A ROW ARE DRAW-ING HEAVILY ON RIALTO.

By Grace Kingsley.

How dearly we all do love crooks! In plays, I mean. Of course, we couldn't think of associating with them in real life, but on stage and screen we're regularly clubby with 'em! Screen crooks are always so roble and so clever, and, oh, so killing in their ways. And they wear their corset-fitting coats so well! Nobody in the play, not even the good old man, can get ahead of 'em. And the police are such mean, suspicious guys! This, of course, applies to the male crooks. The female crooks wear lots of ostrich feathers and talk such funny slang. They show the police where to head in at, and their great big mother hearts always make 'em sell the furniture in their flats to get the foolish young gimpolets off, 'because, gawd, they're young! Honest, the female crooks are always so busy doing somebody a kindness I don't know when they find time to get in their dirty work!

I don't put these reflections down impulsively. Any poor playhouse of a critic will bear me out in them. And I saw three crook plays in a row yesterday, two movies and one speake.

The most up-to-date one was a motion picture with the somewhat exotic title, "L'Apache." It has Dorothy Dalton as its star, is by John Lynch and is on view at Clune's Broadway. And while "L'Apache" is not troubled with any deep study of life, yet Miss Dalton never fails to make her roles human and convincing, the play is ingenious and fascinating in its plot development and there is an effect of freshness to the old theme, that of mistaken identity of two women who look exactly alike. Of course, Dorothy Dalton plays both roles. The two parts are those of a good young American woman hoodlunked into marriage with an Apache of Paris, and another American girl, sent abroad to study music, and who becomes intrigued in an illicit love affair with a wealthy Frenchman. By an exciting train of circumstances, made absorbingly interesting by the author, the two girls exchange places, one of them commits suicide, leaving the other to bear the consequences of her supposed crime of killing the Frenchman. Miss Dalton does her usual work, especially in the heavily dramatic scenes, and her support, including Robert Elliot, Macey Harlan, Austin Weber and the others is entirely adequate.

You won't find a dull moment in "L'Apache," and that Miss Dalton is a huge favorite of the crowd which besieged the theater all day.

An amusing little Strand comedy, with Gertrude Selby, who, by the way, married an eastern millionaire the other day, and Harry Depp, adds to the attractiveness of the bill.

ALHAMBRA HAS LUCK
PLAYING CHECKERS.

If you want to get your system full of imitation thrills and evident, judging from the packed houses and the long waiting line, people in this town do, all you've got to do is to go down to the Alhambra this week and see the dear old melodrama, "Checkers," pepped up in Fox style on the screen. Of course, in the play, they used a canvas train for the wreck scene, and canvas trains are so apt to tear in the picture that it's a real train by letting it run off the end of a broken trestle. This is only one of a score of exciting events which chase the picture way across the screen, culminating in a horse race at which the heroine arrives in up-to-date style in a hydroplane, and, clad in pajamas, rides the hero, which lays the foundation for a further rumper over the evolution.

There are some opulently beautiful scenes, including a luxurious Chinese hop joint presided over by the wealthy Mayor of Chinatown, and a southern plantation. The work of the leading actors, Joan Acker and Tom Kerrigan, is all that is required, and the other roles are all satisfactorily played.

There is something in a horse race which is ever fascinating, despite even the newer fashion of auto and airplane races, and the one in "Checkers" is very lively, indeed. Indeed, the interest of the audience at such a point, at various exciting scenes in the photoplay, that such scenes were loudly applauded. "Checkers" is destined to be one of the most popular of this week's pictures.

"SCREAM IN NIGHT"
AT THE VICTORY.

In "Forbidden" we had a view of a tame woman who got wild; in "A Scream in the Night," the reverse is true. We have a wild woman tamed. Did not this play, which is on view at the Victory, take itself so seriously, it would be a very cheerful fantastic melodrama. As it is, there are some very good spots of humor and odd humanness in the play, when the girl who has been raised in the forest is brought into contact with civilization.

The play is a knock on the Darwinian theory's anthropological pace. Rather overdrawn types are used to designate the opposing sides in the settlement of the recurrent question. The doctor, who is an extremist, is the director Darwinian, kidnaps a daughter of a rich man, and allows her to educate herself in the gentle art of climbing trees and hanging by a toe nail from the highest bow. Later, she is discovered and brought up to date in a hydroplane, and, clad in pajamas, rides the hero, which lays the foundation for a further rumper over the evolution.

DRAMA.
A SMART COMEDY.

"SATURDAY TO MONDAY" IS GOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

By Edwin Schallert.

As a group of light-hearted comedy makers, the members of the Majestic Stock Company are bringing the spirit of fun right to their audience in the pleasant and smart play, "Saturday to Monday," which opened last night. The Majestic Stock Company seems to grow better week by week and its present offering reveals the individual members in a most delightful piece of frivolity and entertainment.

"Saturday to Monday" is not all times and glass, however, although its lines glint with the sparkle of light. Nor are these radiant as gems, though there is occasionally a precious piece of brilliance among them. The play flashes its light around the household of domesticity in an enriching and delectable manner. And hardly a corner of the parlor, bedroom and perhaps, the bath is left untouched at some time during the repartee. Yet there is nothing obviously risqué; it is all incidental naughtiness and only in the word.

The man who keeps a bachelor apartment will find very amusing the second act with its signaling via the hot-water pipe. For that matter, this will appeal equally to the young man or the girl who has gone to college. It is a favorite means of conveying messages in either the apartment or the dormitory.

Nothing could be more intriguing than that situation where the wife comes to the door and the husband, in a moment of domesticity, is in the apartment to incite her husband's jealousy between Monday and Friday. Franklin Pangborn, who had skill and dramatic power as the picture "Lake," the mining engineer, here to see her in other roles of equal interest and fascination. Little Myrtle Marie James, who is so very appealing personally that no one can help liking her, seems to find the role of "Doris Moore" a bit beyond her. It calling for the finesse which keeps the audience wondering whether or not "Doris" really is "straight." However, when she does herself in the role no doubt she will do justice. At last, Jack Douc has a part worthy of his talents. It is the small one of "Pop Clark," out of which he extracts all the amusement the author intended. Len La Salle is good as the mother; but as the hero's sister, Eula DeGowla, is impossible. The hotel part of Master Francis Shropshire is a delightful bit of kid comedy. Charles Carlie plays Inspector of Police without one trace of the snappiness the role requires. The other parts played by Edward Dowell and the others are well done.

search of adventure, who stirs the jealousy of the wife. William Wilkes gave a really fine bit of character portrayal as the out-of-the-and Mr. Brewster. Marie Curtis may also be credited with a true-to-life presentation of the outspoken mother of a suffragette daughter, who doesn't believe in said daughter's creed. Arthur Allard and Harry Garity both carried their roles effectively.

A play that you'll enjoy is "Saturday to Monday," because it is bright, amusing and down to date.

"DEEP PURPLE" NOT TOO DEEP TO AMUSE.

Paul Armstrong's fascinating crook play, "The Deep Purple," is the offering at the Burbank this week, being the first play the new stock company has had that afforded the members to show what they are made of. And despite the fact that yesterday afternoon they found "The Deep Purple" so very deep in spots that they played too slowly and floundered in their lines, these are faults easily remedied by successive performances, and on the whole their work showed that there are some very good players among them.

"The Deep Purple" was one of the first of the epidemic of crook plays produced about seven years ago, and its power to thrill remains unimpaired, as crossing gives way to double-crossing in the progress of the plot's unfolding, and we suspect first one and then another of the characters of being crooked, but with all winding up satisfactorily in the end.

The leading man, Albert Van Antwerp, continues to impress most favorably, with a manner and method that are easy, yet consistently and continuously convincing—as effective, while his personality is such as should make him a tremendous favorite with the public. He, of course, plays "Lake," the mining engineer, hero of the story. Julia Gray, the leading woman, reveals also much skill and dramatic power as the picture "Lake," the mining engineer, here to see her in other roles of equal interest and fascination. Little Myrtle Marie James, who is so very appealing personally that no one can help liking her, seems to find the role of "Doris Moore" a bit beyond her. It calling for the finesse which keeps the audience wondering whether or not "Doris" really is "straight." However, when she does herself in the role no doubt she will do justice. At last, Jack Douc has a part worthy of his talents. It is the small one of "Pop Clark," out of which he extracts all the amusement the author intended. Len La Salle is good as the mother; but as the hero's sister, Eula DeGowla, is impossible. The hotel part of Master Francis Shropshire is a delightful bit of kid comedy. Charles Carlie plays Inspector of Police without one trace of the snappiness the role requires. The other parts played by Edward Dowell and the others are well done.
